universe I'm sitting in my favorite chair, feet crossed on the coffee table, wearing my favorite sweatshirt. My coffee cup is next to me, and the dogs are under the table, eyes on their toys. My medicine is set up (and I take mine about ten minutes before bedtime), lights low. My computer is on my lap. I'm waiting for a knock on the door. I'm waiting for The Phone to ring. I love this part, and it will probably be with me until I'm too old to sit in my favorite chair. A knock on the door means love is on its way. Oh, it just keeps coming! Love hurts, and so do its knockings. I love the light in my eyes, the music in my head, the feelings in my heart. How fast they come, how long they linger, but ultimately, they will be there for me as long as I'm alive. I can't say it enough times to this world, I love you, I love you, I love you, I love you! Share this: Like this: The sun hasn't set yet, but it's been cloudy all day. Even though I called it a night at 9pm, I have no sense of time. I'm being transported somewhere, and I can feel every cell in my body, but I have no idea how long this is going to take. I'm flying, I'm soaring, I'm... Far beyond the time. I've left behind the days of my life, and I'm moving on to the next, forgetting how to be normal. If I'm lucky, I'll have a job tomorrow and I can return to my life. Share this: Like this: A few weeks ago I went to the dentist, I was directed to a new hygienist named Pamela. She found a potential problem, but didn't want to tell me what it was until she could see it herself
